

Reforms committee weeding out corruption in all its forms, says Mah Weng Kwai

Mah Weng Kwai says the Institutional Reforms Committee has zoomed in on seven institutions where corruption and political interference are entrenched. – The Malaysian Insight pic, June 26, 2018.

THE Institutional Reforms Committee (IRC) is looking to eradicate corruption in all its forms and not just funds misappropriation and power abuse, said committee member Mah Weng Kwai.

The committee has zoomed in on seven institutions where corruption and political interference are entrenched, he said, in its fifth and final report which is being prepared for submission to the Council of Eminent Persons (CEP) next month.

Effective July 2018, access to full reports will only be available with a subscription. Sign-up now and enjoy one (1) week free access!

Subscribe Now!